Residents Save Northern Alberta Town

NEAR PANIC as fire threatened to wipe out the main section of their town, residents of Morinville completely destroyed one building late Sunday morning. The two-story frame structure owned by Joseph Bougie, proprietor of Morinville Bakery, also contained a drug store, beauty parlor and insurance office.

ness offices and living quarters, but was stopped as it licked within foot of wood-packed Beaver Lumber Co. premises. Undamaged lumber yard can be seen in left upper corner of photo, beside column of smoke arising from smouldering debris of destroyed Bougie building.

Pacific Producer Said Largest In Redwater

A new oil well in the Redwater field, believed to be the biggest in the field to date, was put on production over the weekend with a rated potential production of 46,800 barrels a month.

The well is Pacific-Sunray-Princess Redwater, most westerly of all producing wells in the field.

Backers of the well are the Pacific Petroleum, Calgary, and Calgary Petroleum, Calgary.

BIG POTENTIAL
Present potential of the well, which breaks down to about 1,500 barrels per day, was established after acid treatment.

Potentials of other wells in the field to date are Anglo-Home Redwater, 1,476 barrels a day; Anglo-Home Redwater, 2,136 barrels a day; Imperial Redwater, 1,440 barrels a day.

Further acidization and tests of Imperial Redwater 3 are believed to have upped its potential considerably and it is now in the neighborhood of 1,950 barrels a day.

NEW METHOD
A new method of casing is also being tried in the P.S. and P. well. Instead of casing the well to the bottom and perforating in the porous zone, casing has just been run to the top of the porous layer leaving the casing open to the bottom.

The well marks the most distant completion from the axis of Imperial No. 1, 3 and 4 wells and is in the northwest corner of a quarter section of land purchased by the combine from the provincial government for $85,000.

EXTENSION MOOTED
Westerly location of the well is looked upon as an indicator that the field may extend farther west than was previously believed.

Imperial Redwater 5 to the south, and slightly farther out from the main field axis, was a failure. Company officials said today the well will be allowed to flow freely for two or three days to see if production is maintained and further acidization may be required.

Drys Gain First Victory In Years

"Drys" won their first local option victory in several years last Sunday at Sundre.

Government officials could not recall the date of the last time the "drys" had been forced to retreat, beyond saying it was "long time ago."

Sundre is 30 miles west of Olds. There were 433 dry ballots cast against 352 wet, with 21 spoiled ballots.

Convict Hanged For Pen Murder

KINGSTON, Ont. Jan. 24.—(CP)—Austin Craft, bank robber and murderer, paid with his life after today for the prison-break slaying of penitentiary messenger John D. Kennedy.

Craft, who had spent more than half of his 47 years in prisons, died after a long illness at the gallows at Frontenac County jail at 12:12 a.m. He was pronounced dead eight minutes later.

Before going to the gallows he said hymns with his spiritual adviser, Rev. C. W. Kay of the Free Methodist church here. One of his last acts was to take communion in the death cell, where he has awaited his sentence was passed Oct. 29.

Rita and Aly May Purchase Malabu Villa

MOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24.—(CP)—A magnificent furnished 25-room estate on a cliff above Malibu beach may be the Hollywood home of Prince Aly Khan and film star Rita Hayworth after their marriage. It was reported today.

Although realtors refused to discuss it, the Indian heir's agents reportedly are dickering to buy the $200,000 villa on a hillside near Leon Kauffman.

Lending substantiation to the report, realtor Miss Hayworth said Saturday at Cannes, France, that she plans to continue movie work after marrying the son of the fabulously rich Aga Khan. She said she will live in the United States.

Only a grey-haired woman housekeeper lives at the palatial villa. It was built in 1927 on a site for lavish entertainments by Leon Kauffman, Russian-born merchant whose fortune was made in the fur business.

Kaufman and his wife are now dead, and their children have long since left the house.

1,800 Montreal Teachers Vote To End Strike

MONTREAL, Jan. 24.—(CP)—An appeal from the Quebec Parents' association brought surprise results early today when 1,800 Roman Catholic French and English-speaking teachers, on strike for "higher wages," voted to return to work "unconditionally."

Leo Guindon, president of the French Catholic Teachers' Association which called the walkout, told the teachers to return to work at 1:30 p.m. today.

Several hundred members of the French-speaking alliance of teachers walked out today, but only four members of the English-speaking Federation of Catholic Teachers were unresponsive.

The strike, which started last Monday, marked the first time in the city's history that a school-teaching body has walked out of the job.

Reginians Walking In Wake of Big Fire

Chamber Wakes At Long Last

Two years after the oil industry was established in this community, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce sets up an oil section to promote this city as the oil centre of Alberta.

It is two years later.

But it is not too late if the Chamber builds up this section with the best men and all the money available.

The Chamber's belated recognition of oil's importance is typical of the lethargy of the entire city with regard to the vast potentialities in the production of oil.

The fact is that this tremendous new wealth is so close to us that we do not see it clearly.

But Calgary sees it and, even though its own oil production is waning, Calgary men have set out, with that enterprise that is Calgary's greatest asset, to maintain their city as the oil centre of the province.

And Calgary will do it, too, unless our Chamber of Commerce, with its oil section, puts real vigorous life into a campaign to move the oil business here.

Even the rivalry of Regina must be considered now, with the Saskatchewan government's aping of Alberta's oil policy and giving concessions for exploration.

Oil has increased the wealth of this city in spite of this city's astonishing indifference. Out of the 68 new industries opened in Edmonton last year, 50 were connected with the oil business.

If 50 new industries come in a year, in spite of our lethargy, how many would come with our strong and lively support?

Other centres of oil production have learned how to cash in on the new wealth.

Tulsa, Oklahoma, not only provides hotel and office accommodation for oil firms, but supplies various forms of entertainment as well. And they have found it pays. They became an oil centre—artificially.

In the past year the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce has shown that it can get things done.

The Chamber of Commerce can make Edmonton the real oil centre, too, if that new oil section of the chamber is made the biggest and liveliest section and if the biggest and liveliest men are put to work on it.

Balmy 10 Above Zero Forecast for Tuesday

Relief from what has been the worst cold spell of the winter, a sub-zero snap that has plagued the prairies for more than a week, is predicted by the Edmonton weather office today.

Weathermen say the mercury will hit 25 below again on Tuesday, and then climb to 10 above on Thursday afternoon. First time it has risen above zero in a week. Wind will be from the west after dropping to light this evening.

But elsewhere on the weather map, blizzards and cold spells are playing havoc with traffic and power lines and are expected to maroon more than two million sheep and cattle are marooned by a severe snow storm.

In Southern Ontario hundreds of abandoned cars dotted highways in the wake of a freezing rain that coated roads with ice. Seven persons were injured in early morning traffic accidents in Toronto, blamed on the rain.

U.S. Air Force today threw into gear its "Operation Peacemaker" to save starving livestock of the western range as a new blizzard delayed the delivery of feed.

The storm hit Utah, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and reached as far north as Manitoba.

POWER FAMINE
In Vancouver the critical power shortage worsened as the mercury dropped to 14 above.

British Columbia Electric officials warned that power consumption on major industries may have to be curtailed, and added that "if you can't do it now, save electricity at home."

But Vancouverites had one bright spot from the cold weather. They took advantage of the cold snap to skate on the frozen surface of Lost Lagoon, but in doing so angling in Stanley Park.

43 Trams, Buses Burned in Blaze

REGINA, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Regina residents shivered their way to work today in 25-below-zero weather, either by walking or riding in army trucks, or other transport vehicles, following yesterday's $1,000,000 fire which destroyed 75 per cent of the city's street cars and buses.

City officials started an investigation into the blaze, one of the most destructive in western history. Within a few hours it destroyed 17 street cars, 17 trolley buses and nine gas buses. Earlier reports placed the number of destroyed vehicles even higher.

Street buses will be made available to Regina to meet the transportation crisis.

This decision was made today by city commissioners after consultation with Thomas Ferrier, superintendent of the city's transit system.

Offer of the six trolley coaches has been declined by the Regina civic officials.

If the offer is accepted the six vehicles will be shipped by rail to Regina.

Starting with an explosion in the storage section of the municipal transportation system's yard around 10:30 a.m., the fire spread with lightning speed, and flames that brought the roof tumbling down within an hour.

SPREAD RAPIDLY
No fast did the flames move that officials said there was not time to remove any of the vehicles from the building. Had the fire occurred any day but Sunday, vehicle casualties would have been lighter since more of the street cars and buses would have been operating on city streets.

Today city officials were confronted with two tasks: that is, to investigate the explosion, the other to ensure that citizens were provided with adequate transportation.

Little could be done to investigate the cause of the explosion.

City May Get Gov't Grant

Edmonton city coffers will be enriched by a provincial grant annually following the next session of the Alberta legislature.

This is predicted by observers in the legislative buildings who foresee the implementation of the Judge's plan for provincial-municipal relations, which suggests the province should pay an annual grant to replace taxes lost to the city for buildings occupied by the government.

At the present time, provincial government buildings pay no municipal taxes and municipal authorities, particularly in Edmonton, have been forced to make arrangements under which the city could get some revenue from them.

The Alberta Liquor Control Board premises are used as an example of a structure which would help support municipal finances.

Mercy Plane Waits OK for North Trip

An RCAF ski-equipped mercy plane is standing by at Edmonton airport today, waiting for the signal to fly which is threatened with extinction from a mysterious plague.

The aircraft, which arrived here Sunday from Trenton, Ont., is bound for Somerset Island, some 1,000 miles north of Churchill, Man., where nine Eskimos have died since November.

Piloted by RCAF pilot Christmas, the plane was dispatched from the airport at 10:30 a.m. today, after reports of deaths from a "mysterious plague" at Creswell Bay, on the coast.

The reports brought to Churchill three months after the deaths have started the northern mercy mission which is to get underway from Edmonton sometime today.

COURT CAUSTIC

Woman Takes Her Daughter Shoplifting

Because "her friends told her she was foolish to pay for clothing when she could get it for nothing," Mrs. Mary Lypchak, 1225 50 street, appeared in police court this morning on two charges of shoplifting.

"Taking your daughter with you on a stealing expedition—so that's the way you bring up children!" exclaimed Magistrate A. J. Miller. Evidence was given that her 14-year-old daughter accompanied her when she took goods to the value of $4.84 from J. Eaton company (Western) Limited, and less than $25 worth of articles from the Hudson's Bay Company. Fines for $40 and costs on the first charge, and $10 and costs on the second, were imposed. The only reason he did not send her to jail was because of her children. Her address at court while he decided not to take the children from her was Mrs. Mary Lypchak, 11251 38 street, also appeared on a shoplifting charge, being guilty of stealing goods valued less than $25 from Eaton's. She was fined $25 and costs.

This is an increase of 33 over the total reported the previous week.

During the week ended Jan. 21 a total of 198 cases of communicable diseases were reported to health officials.

There were 73 cases of chicken-pox compared with 52 one of erysipelas and Vincent's angina. No cases of these diseases were reported during the previous week.

Eight cases of mumps were reported compared with 12 the previous week. No cases of scarlet fever were reported.

Dr. G. M. Little said measles usually reaches its peak early in the spring. He added that the present epidemic is not serious.

Record year for measles cases was in 1936 when more than 5,000 cases of the disease and rubella were reported.

Names In The News

Patrick Atchey, East Edmonton's postman, was named as the Ottawa Saturday to attend the annual session of the House of Commons.

Aspects of current international affairs will be discussed by Prof. A. S. Tweedie when he addresses the Edmonton United Services Institute at the Prince of Wales armory on Saturday.

Mr. McCall started his military career with the infantry in the First World War. He became a pilot in 1917. He ranked close to famed Billy Bishop for gunning skill, having bagged 37 enemy planes. He was a buddy of Edmonton's Capt. W. R. "Wop" May and the two pioneered in setting up the flying club in Alberta.

Re-calling in the Second World War, McCall was often in Edmonton as a squadron leader on RCAF stations.

COD COURSE CHILLY AFFAIR FOR TROOPS
Thirty-five officers and military training in self-survival and military operations under sub-zero conditions are getting more experience in living in camps than they had expected.

The soldiers, active force of officers and non-commissioned officers, are in the tents at Walter Harty army camp during two days of a three-week course that ends Friday.

It is being given greater test of Arctic conditions than had been hoped for officers say. Actually, the soldiers only spent two nights in the atmosphere that would make an Eskimo feel more at home than a Canadian.

During the night, food froze. At the break of dawn, one man in each party or section had to crawl out of his sleeping bag, light a small heater and put a pot on to boil.

The morning cook had to wear gloves to handle the cold pots and pots to prevent frost burn. A few minutes later, the remaining men in each party also folded back their sleeping bags, as the temperature was still far below zero inside the tents.

During the two-day exercise, the 35 men had been covered 31 miles of icy terrain.

A record year in the field of missionary and charitable contributions which totalled $14,000 was announced at the annual meeting of Central United Church.

Of the total, more than half went to projects and purposes outside the congregation. These figures do not include unusual expenditures on repairs and decorating at the church.

Special notice was taken at the meeting of $1,500 donated to the Lamont Hospital Extension Fund through the Young People's Union. The amount represented the largest single donation by any one YPU branch in the province. Extension to the church's hospital at Lamont is to cost about $25,000.

New appointments at the meeting included A. C. Stewart as recording secretary, J. Bolander, J. Bruce, W. R. Bessley, A. Cumming, E. Gregor, D. Stewart and J. Tortance.

Great volume of legislation to face Alberta's lawmakers when they convene on Feb. 17 will come from three government departments.

The branches now drafting the new enactments are the departments of municipal affairs, of public works and of lands and mines.

Split of the department of lands and mines into the departments of mines and of forests and lands will mean a tremendous volume of new enactments and amendments to present laws, an official of the department of lands and mines said last week.

Polar Club Membership Sought After River Crash

Alex Latta Jr., 11348 66 street, is thinking of starting an Edmonton Polar Bear club.

He believes he is qualified to be a No. 1 charter member, and that Miss Alice McDougall, 23, of 3013 108 avenue, a registered nurse, should hold membership card No. 2.

Both Latta and McDougall had a frigid dip in the waters of the Saskatchewan river Sunday afternoon with the thermometer down to 20 below zero.

Young Latta was driving with McDougall in his car over Saskatchewan river ice west of the high level bridge when the front of the car broke through into eight feet of water.

Although his teeth still chattered a bit at the recollection, Latta came back on the job at the Latta Machine Co. shop today. Miss McDougall was also going about her nursing duties.

HAD NO WARNING
"There wasn't any warning. I was just turning the car around after a trip to the Capitol Hill toboggan slide, when I heard a sound of crunching, cracking sound," said Latta.

"The front of the car dropped into the water."

"I tried to open the front doors of the car but they wouldn't budge. They were locked tight by pressure of ice on the outside. Guess I must have crawled automatically into the back seat. I sort of pulled Miss McDougall after me. The back door wouldn't seem to open at first, but I finally got it open by holding the handle down and kicking at the door."

WATER RUSHES IN
"I got out as the water rushed in up to my chest. Miss McDougall got on the solid ice and was wet only up to her knees."

"Mr. Gillette of the Arctic Ice Co. was close by in his car. He took us to my home."

"It was warm in the car but it was certainly the coldest and wettest ride I ever had," concluded Latta.

The driver said the car went over a spot where ice-cutting operations had recently been carried out and the ice was only four inches thick instead of the 18 to 20-inch thickness on the rest of the river.

There were no warning signs, he said.

TRIED TO STOP CAR
An effort was made to stop the Latta car before it reached the danger area, an Arctic Ice Co. official said today.

The official said there was a man stationed near the thin ice and open water area where ice-cutting operations had been carried out all Sunday afternoon.

"He tried to stop Latta's car but the driver didn't pay heed."

The winter ice roads are private and the public should not travel on them, although there are apparently no laws to prevent their use by the public, it was explained.

DAMAGE OF $500 In Workshop Fire
Damage of $500 to tools and equipment, as well as extensive damage to interior and roof was caused by fire in a workshop at 11810 51 street, at 4:35 p.m. Saturday.

Michael Andrusak used the frame shed owned by Frank Andrusak, 11809 52 street, as a workshop.

Fire occurred when Michael Andrusak tried to turn higher a gas lamp and burning gasoline spread over the walls, which were covered with cardboard. Smoke and heat used as insulation were ignited.

Andrew Kananen, 1204 38 St., who was in the workshop at the time, had to get of his parka burned by flaming gasoline.

PLANNER COULD SAVE CITY MONEY IS CLAIM

Engagement of a town planner would prove an eventual money-saver for Edmonton, according to Miss Jean Wallbridge of the City Architects Office.

Miss Wallbridge was one of the speakers to address the 11th annual short course of the Edmonton Chapter of the Appraisal Institute of Canada, held at the U.S. Club of Edmonton.

One of the numerous advantages that would accrue from proper town planning, Miss Wallbridge said, all would prove an economy to the city.

Laying out neighborhoods, instead of leading town-planners, instead of the present ad hoc pattern of streets and avenues would increase the number of tax-bearing home sites and would reduce the roadway area requiring paving and maintenance by about eight per cent.

Each neighborhood area, she added, would be practically self-contained with its own school, community centre, business district and parks, and the layout would be such that pedestrians would not normally have to cross main thoroughfares.

Steve Hruday, Edmonton contractor, showed building costs had increased more than 100 per cent since 1941.

Cost of constructing a six-room two-story Dutch Colonial house now was $11,500 as compared to the cost of $4,400 for the same house in 1941.

Three-day course at the Institute is being attended by 75 appraisers, real estate dealers, insurance men and other interested parties. The course is sponsored by the Extension Department of the University of Alberta and is being held in St. Stephen's College.

U.K. Farm Expert To Confer Here
An English agricultural expert, Dean Harold Sanders of Reading Agricultural College will confer Tuesday with Alberta department of agriculture officials.

Dr. Sanders is visiting Canada under the sponsorship of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

He is not expected to address any Edmonton meetings but will attend the Juneau and Fair at Calgary next week end.

SOME INGREDIENTS LACKING
Lacking it but the majority were Canadians of their origin.

Maybe the boots prefer to make their own gages according to their own ideas. The boots involve the use of such ingredients as calf or sheep's hair, flings and sometimes the smaller intestines of the animal.

Government food regulations ban the use of small intestines and other obscure parts of the animal's digestive system. The store-type gage, however, flows as easily to the outside as it does to the inside.

Russian Problem Looms for Acheson

Communism Is Not New To New State Secretary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Russia is the No. 1 diplomatic problem for Dean Acheson, now stepping into the Truman cabinet as state secretary.

For the 55-year-old Acheson that has a familiar ring, Russia was a problem, one way or another, during most of his previous years in the state department.

But formerly the problem was how aid could be rushed to the Russians. Now Acheson has to weld, hold together and aid that part of the world willing to stand against the men of Moscow.

United States public opinion has done an about-face on Russia. Acheson's previous service with the state department—from 1941 to 1947—spanned the change.

In June, 1941, Germany attacked Russia. Prime Minister Winston Churchill rushed to promise aid to the Soviet. After some thought the late President Roosevelt agreed.

OPINION LOW

Public opinion of Russia had been low after the signing of the German-Russian non-aggression pact which released Hitler on the east and permitted him to declare war on the west.

In late 1943 Churchill and Roosevelt received pledges from Stalin at Tehran, Iran, promising to co-operate in the peace.

Hope rose that the major powers could work together to build a secure peace. In 1943 Acheson, then assistant secretary of state, headed a group of state department experts assigned to planning the size and duties of a world organization to prevent war. Conferences led to the United Nations meeting in San Francisco in April, 1945.

One by one the countries on Russia's borders—where Communist armies were stationed—fell to the Communists. The hope of free elections, to which Stalin was pledged, died.

By March, 1947 the United States prepared ready for the first official American step to battle Communism.

By June, 1947 the administration was willing to permit a public and official attack on Moscow. Acheson, then under-secretary of state, said Russian actions had delayed European recovery "tragically long."

Music, Dances, Gymnastics Featured at Slav Concert

More than 1,000 local Ukrainians, Poles, Russians and Slavonians packed the Strand theatre Sunday night for their annual concert, featuring string orchestra, music, choirs, folk dances and gymnastics.

The two-hour affair, drawing groups from all over the Edmonton district, is one of the highlights of the year's Slav activities. This year was held under chairmanship of George Solomon, Association of Ukrainian Canadians' secretary.

URGES WORK FOR PEACE

Guest speaker of the evening, Dr. George Hunter of the University of Alberta, praised the work of local Slavs, urging closer co-operation of peoples of the world in the best interests of peace.

"In Canada, the fight must be continued against discrimination in regard to non-Anglo-Saxons," he declared. "All people of all races in this country are equal and should be on the same plane."

Dr. Hunter also commended work of the Dean of Canterbury, to whom the education referred as "the greatest fighter for world peace."

PROGRESS MADE

Mr. Solomon stated that Slav-Canadian groups, comprising 1,000,000 of Canada's population, are "forging ahead for the country, helping and working for a Canadian culture and Canadian greatness."

"We are behind our adopted land and working for its development and strength," he declared. "We will fight for peace."

Others who spoke during the evening included Sam Senka, Russian-Canadian; Julia Kinsky, Polish-Canadian; and John Dragich, Yugoslav-Canadian group.

BRIDGE

His Poker Theories Injected in Bridge

By William E. McKenney

The ambition of every aspirant to appear on Broadway. Recently, when Joe Ferrer was in his apartment, we were discussing the usual achievement. He is the star of the Broadway play, "The Silver Whistle," and at the same time he is being seen in one of the lead roles of the motion picture, "Joan of Arc," at two different Broadway theatres.

He likes to inject his poker theories into the bridge game, as he did in today's hand. Not many players will understand at first, but he is a bridge player. He likes to inject his poker theories into the bridge game, as he did in today's hand. Not many players will understand at first, but he is a bridge player.

Mr. Ferrer said that bridge and poker are the salvation of distressed people on Broadway. James when on tour, in his bridge club, he brings out in "The Silver Whistle" that of bringing joy and happiness into the lives of others.

He will not play cards with people who will not play for the fun they get out of it. To argue with Joe is to lose a bridge partner. He likes to inject his poker theories into the bridge game, as he did in today's hand. Not many players will understand at first, but he is a bridge player.

He knew that if he led a spade or a heart, he would be leading right into something in declarer's hand. A diamond lead would establish the suit in dummy. Joe figured that the only possible way to get an extra trick was to lead a club. If he could the club of clubs, that would be all he would take, so he led the club deuce.

Declarer could not figure him for underestimating as one assistant, six, who he put on a small club from dummy. East put on the queen, and when it hit the trick, he came back with a club and Joe cashed his ace.

Mayor to Speak To Women's Club

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay will speak on Civic Administration at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Regency chambers of the Civic Club.

City architect Max Dewar will also address the group. His subject will be town planning.

WHY GROW OLD

Gay Laughter Proves Healthy Relaxation

By Josephine Lowman

"Laugh and grow fat." How many times have we heard that?

It does seem that many women who are fat or plump are extremely jolly! As a rule, well-padded folks are calmer than their thinner sisters. Extreme tenseness is often a contributing factor in underweight.

It would be impossible to calculate the medicinal value of laughter and the optimistic, happy attitude from which it springs. Laughter and a happy outlook on the glands to smooth functioning, and this in turn makes every organ in your body function more efficiently. It is a well-known fact that much because many of them are terribly burdened by overweight and fatigue and physical trouble, and it would be just as untrue to say that all thin women are tense and irritable.

It seems that we might take this thought into the New Year with us, the correct weight for your height and build is of great importance in health and in which react on each other in a vicious circle of too little fat padding and much tenseness.

Extreme underweight can be an unhappy experience from the standpoint of too few figure curves and also from the view-point of health. Often serious proclivities occur, causing severe fatigue, backaches and constipation with their accompanying enervation.

It would certainly be untrue to say that all fat women are jolly because many of them are terribly burdened by overweight and fatigue and physical trouble, and it would be just as untrue to say that all thin women are tense and irritable.

It would certainly be untrue to say that all fat women are jolly because many of them are terribly burdened by overweight and fatigue and physical trouble, and it would be just as untrue to say that all thin women are tense and irritable.

It seems that we might take this thought into the New Year with us, the correct weight for your height and build is of great importance in health and in which react on each other in a vicious circle of too little fat padding and much tenseness.

Extreme underweight can be an unhappy experience from the standpoint of too few figure curves and also from the view-point of health. Often serious proclivities occur, causing severe fatigue, backaches and constipation with their accompanying enervation.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Timing is Important In Handling Children

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Most parents are familiar with the suggestion that when a child is playing he should be given some warning before it is demanded that he come to the table, or go to bed, or what have you.

Timing is vitally important to being successful in changing a child's activities. Children do not spring nimbly from one set of activity to another, especially when they are interested in it. They must be given time to make up their minds to act in the new and "desired" way.

Every child has to visit the toilet periodically. He will if his mother does not suggest it out of a clear sky.

Instead it works better to say, "It's almost time to go to the bathroom. Watch the clock and when the hand is here, then tell mother and I'll take care of you." Maybe the pet doesn't have to go, or acting then is a preparation for going somewhere else. Whatever the case it should give the child time to accommodate himself to the idea.

Getting the child to nap or to bed is another of those situations which demands tactful timing and diplomacy. The child is not going to leap up the stairs merely because the parent asserts that it is now bedtime.

It is really to suggest intervening activities which will lead up to bed. "If you put your toys in the box, then I'll read you the Kitty story and after that it will be time to tuck everyone in." It's possible the mother may have to wait a while before the child actually the time will arrive when the child gives up and goes to bed without fuss.

Bathing can be an adventure or a happy playtime. Don't hurry the child. Let him turn on the water. Let him collect his water toys, or his pet animals and get himself in the mood of being bathed.

The mother saves time in the end because then the child performs all these daily activities willingly and happily, instead of struggling and thinking of the mother as a rebel against them.

Continental 6 Big Producer

By Harlo Jones
Continental Oil Company of Canada has racked up their fourth production in unbroken succession in the north of the main Leduc producing field. A test of Continental-Leduc-Woodend 6 Sunday was reported to have given the well a rate estimated at about 100 barrels per hour.

Oil was reported to have flowed to the surface in 30 minutes from a depth of 4,215 feet.

Development of what is expected to be Alberta's greatest oil field, the Redwater, is continuing rapidly. Anglo-Indo Redwater five, fourth well to be prepared by the combination, is due to be spudded today.

In the Leduc field, Home Leduc 18 is at 5,915 feet and Home Leduc 23 at 5,590.

LEADING ENCOURAGING
Leduc Calmar, which has gotten good cores from a depth of 4,064 feet in the D1, is now believed to be deeper up.

The British-American Leduc Leaseholds well, southwest of the main Leduc producing area, cut a 1,000 gallon acid-treatment Saturday, 145-150 D2 per hour. Total daily said to have reacted very favorably.
